Enjoyable Program At Boy's Night

The local Rotary Outpost held its monthly meeting Monday night in the Second Ward Chapel. This was Boy's night and each Father brought his boy or boys, or if he had none of his own, was supposed to bring some one else's boy. 39 boys and Dads sat down to the satisfying meal prepared by the Primary officers of the ward.

President Dr. Hall was in the chair, and after community singing called on Heber F. Allen for a short talk on Rotary Education, and he read a part of an article written by a former International Rotary President "A Flight of Stairs," and pointed out the change that accompanied one's initiation into Rotary and some of the things that were expected of him in Rotary.

Geo. H. Brewerton directed the remainder of the program, as follows: Vocal solo by Stephen Wood, Piano Solo by Steele Brewerton and a talk on boys and their interests by Bishop Walker, who was guest speaker of the evening. A man who has raised a large family including seven boys, and kept their respect and confidence as has the Bishop, was in a fine position to give advice from his own experiences to others in this important field. He stated that boys liked responsibility, and if they feel they have a real interest in what they are working at they are very efficient and particular. The time a father spends playing with his boys is the best thing he can do to keep them busily engaged at profitable play or work and then they will have no time for loafing places.

A hearty vote of thanks was given Bishop Walker at the conclusion of his talk and the singing of the National Anthem brought a very successful evening to a close.

Thermometers took a nose dive to 30 below at daybreak Wednesday morning and the sharp south-west wind made it a very cold morning.

The bus arrived from Lethbridge at 9:30 Wednesday morning, the first bus to call since last Saturday morning. Local business men had a great raft of mail to read.

Local Students Enroll at B. Y. U.

Ten students from Southern Alberta have just completed registration at Brigham Young University, in addition to some 30 Canadians already registered during the autumn quarter.

The new students for the winter quarter are William Pelmar Miller of Claydon, Erma Irene Wright of Glenwood, Leonard David Watson, Isaac Roberts, Maurice King Heaninger, Frank Willis Taylor, and Roy Woolley, all of Raymond, and Walter Hinman P. I. her, (who graduated last summer, but is now doing graduate work and assisting in teaching some classes) and Calla Pitcher, both from Cardston.

Two hundred new registrations have been filed at the registrar's office since Jan. 4 when the winter quarter started at B.Y.U., of which these ten from Canada are a part. Students have come in from Columbus, Ohio, Colonia Dublin, Chih, Mexico, and from Arizona, Nevada, and Wyoming for new registrations.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. L. D. King, who has been ill for the past week is improving nicely now.

Coal trucks have been getting through with their loads, but a lot of travel in second gear has been necessary in places.

Mrs. Oliver McLean was taken to the Hospital last week, and is reported as doing as well as can be expected.

Another couple of weeks of this and we'll have something to tell our grand children about anyway.

Reports state that Premier Baldwin will retire after the Coronation when the Cabinet of the British House is re-organized for the year.

Paul Redd went to Lethbridge Saturday afternoon and returned home Monday afternoon, taking 3 hours for the trip.

With the deep snow everyone is talking bumper crops for next year. We sure hope they are right. The prospects so far in 1937 are about as favorable as they could be.

Supina's Mercantile in Lethbridge was broken into Sunday morning, and during the day two of the burglars were arrested by the police. Clothing taken was valued at $100, but police recovered practically all of it.

Government offices warned motorists to keep off the highways Monday morning after wind Saturday night and more wind and snow Sunday had piled all semblances of tracks full again. Travellers who were unfortunate enough to be caught in the storm brought home distressing stories of terrible road conditions.

From reports received by local people from relatives and friends the present storm has reached clear to Southern Utah, and districts there where heavy snow is very rare, report blocked roads from the volume of snow. It should make a plentiful reserve for irrigation projects this summer.

The U.F.A. committee suggested that the U.G.G. and Port Elevators combine in the annual convention at Calgary this week. Both companies are working for the same ends and a merger would cut down expense and give the farmers cheaper service and greater profits.

Hon. N. E. Tanner and nine other Cardstonians proved themselves good men on the end of a shovel when on Saturday night they shovelled their way through miles of drifted snow, and finally abandoned the four trucks and cars in the dump and completed the trip in a sleigh which came out from the town to meet them.

Old timers are agreed that this spell of weather has set a record in a number of ways. The town has had more disappointments in mail than any time since the daily mail service was inaugurated. There has never before been such huge piles of snow in front of business places as there are now following intermittent falls of snow and then wind storms during the past six weeks.

Arch Witbeck Is Laid To Rest

The Second Ward Chapel was filled Sunday afternoon for the funeral services of Arch Witbeck which convened at 1:30 p.m. with Bishop J. Orvin Hicken in charge. The moving of the remains from the mortuary in Lethbridge was very difficult on account of the drifted roads, but a truck load of men from Raymond broke trail to the Menzies Colony north of the Pot Hole Coulee, where they met the hearse, and the journey on a, while slow, was finished without trouble and on time. The beautiful white casket was covered, as well as the room with the beautiful floral offerings of friend who admired deceased for his neighborliness and his unassuming disposition.

The singing was directed by W. W. McMullin of the First Ward, and members of both Ward Choirs assisted in the singing, hymns being "Oh My Father," "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," with Mrs. Phyllis Brewerton singing the solo, and "Nearer My God To Thee." Oliver McLean sang "My Task." The opening prayer was by Bishop James Walker and the benediction by Pres. Heber F. Allen. Pall bearers were: Dave Clemis, R. W. Kinsey, T. K. Roberts, Teddy Grey, Jack Grey and Wm. Witbeck.

The speakers were Elders C. E. Alfred, I. B. Roberts, A. D. Woolley and Bishop Hicken. Elder Alfred spoke of the characteristic of dependability of deceased, stating that in his 17 years experience in the First Ward Bishopric they had never asked the deceased to perform any labor that he had not under taken willingly, and he doubted if there was anyone in the ward who was asked more to assist in work at the cemetery than the deceased. He was a patient and long suffering man, and that for over 30 years he had been afflicted and had carried his affliction without murmuring. Elder Roberts had always appreciated his neighborliness with the deceased and his dependability. He spoke of the resurrection and said he hoped to meet and associate with the deceased and continue the friendship that had been formed here. Elder Woolley had been quite intimate with the deceased for a number of years and had always appreciated the splendid home spirit which the family had always had, and the fact that the children always accepted their share of home responsibility with good feelings. The Bishop had known the deceased all his life and in his boyhood had admired Arch Witbeck's interest in boys, and the efforts to make them happy. Mr. Witbeck was a lover of flowers, and had admired the many beautiful flower gardens of our town. On behalf of the family he thanked all for their assistance in the hour of bereavement and hoped that the spirit of neighborliness would continue and that the widow and children would not be forgotten as they would sorely miss the guiding hand and companionship of father and husband.

Interment was in the local cemetery with Christensen Bros. in charge.

The drifting snow Saturday night prevented the bus from arriving, and it was not until Sunday evening that it arrived from Lethbridge. The continuation of storms are making our mail deliveries very uncertain.

Sunday School classes in the 2nd Ward were rather badly scattered Sunday morning, when about half the class rooms were closed because of new floors being oiled and not sufficiently dry to be used.

Art Baalim Is Elected President Of Logan Garment Co.

At the organization meeting in Lethbridge Tuesday afternoon of the Logan Garment Co. Ltd., A. G. Baalim, Lethbridge business man was named President of the Company; J. S. Brandley of Stirling, Vice-President; O. O. Mehr, Logan, Managing Director; A. E. Palmer, Secretary; Directors, D. H. Elton, and J. W. Scamans, Hyde Park, Utah.

The formal opening of the factory will take place Saturday, when the public is invited to view the factory and the new styles which are being manufactured in the Lethbridge plant. The Alberta plant will be kept right up to the minute in styles etc., through its connection with the parent company in Logan.

Magrath Gets $75,000 Woollen Mill

NEWS NOTES

Weather warmed up a great deal Wednesday afternoon and it was very welcome to.

Colds and light attacks of influenza have been quite common here past ten days, the weather seeming to encourage them.

A 40 bushel crop of No. 1 grain at $1.00 per bushel would net promises of dividends every way, wouldn't it?

Do you know why your stores aren't a success? "I can't imagine." "Yes, that's the whole trouble."

The recording thermometer at the A. C. registered 32 degrees below zero during Tuesday night and was 4 below at dawn on Wednesday.

It is rumored that the E. P. Ranch at High River is for sale, although the Manager knows nothing of it as yet.

Hugh Malloy, 31, of Butte, Montana, was frozen to death three blocks from his home on Tuesday night.

Pope Pius spent one of his worst nights since the beginning of his illness on Tuesday night.

Lief Erickson of Stirling was elected to the school board this week to take the place of Ferris Zaugg, whose term had expired.

The lowly penny had all other coins for number minted in Canada in 1936. The sales tax and the trend for one cent prices makes a great demand for the copper.

Howard Hughes, Los Angeles piloted his plane across the United States on Monday in 7 hours and 31 minutes, making an average speed of 332 miles per hour.

The speech from the Throne was passed after only six hours debate in the House of Commons Monday. The legislators usually spend at least two weeks debating this speech.

The extremely cold weather broke two trolley wires on the street car lines in Lethbridge. The Henderson Park Line was out of commission for a couple of days.

The one-act play, "Smok," was presented to a fair-sized crowd after Mutual Tuesday night. The play, was well prepared, and is too bad the cold weather kept so many away.

The Sea Gull class of the 2nd Ward Primary had a party Saturday afternoon last. One hour of skating was followed by game and refreshments at the home of their teacher, Mrs. J. Holland. The kiddies greatly enjoyed the party.

Chas. Tweed with his ski-equipped plane featured in his third mercy flight of the past two weeks on Monday morning when he flew to Milk River and brought Miss Melissa Snow to St. Michael's Hospital for an emergency operation. Drifted roads made it impossible to get the young lady to hospital in any other way, and Tweed was just 35 minutes each way in making the trip.

Following several months of correspondence, Thomas Baron, Jr., of Brigham City, Utah, has decided to locate a woollen mill in Magrath. When the Logan Knitting Co. was looking for a location, Magrath made a bid, but the Manager, Otto Mehr, decided Magrath was too small a centre for his industry, but he suggested that a woollen mill might find Magrath attractive and suggested that Magrath's committee get in touch with the above firm in Brigham City, and see if they would not come in.

E. P. Tanner, Chairman of the Industries Committee of Magrath, wrote several letters, and in the early fall visited in Brigham and talked with the managers of the Woollen Mills. Thomas Baron, Jr., sold his interest in the Brigham City plant to his brother, and after visiting a number of possible locations, decided to come to Magrath. The mill will cost about $75,000, and some stock will be taken by Magrath people. The mill will employ 30 or 40 people steadily, and as much local labor as possible will be used.

We congratulate Magrath on obtaining this industry and feel assured it will succeed. The management expect to commence manufacturing blankets and course yarn, and gradually work into other lines.

Paths and roads were plugged with fresh loose snow Sunday and walking was very tiresome indeed. Motor travel was practically nil. The large flakes and still air Sunday forenoon resulted in a lot of snow in a little while.

Wilde's and Pickett's had a great deal of company Saturday night when people trying to get home from Lethbridge got stranded there. Some brave ones tried to get in with a truck, only to have the snow drift in under the hood and kill the ignition on the engine.

Flu seems to be spreading in the town. Local cases are a very light form, and school attendance is not seriously affected. Mumps are still quite prevalent amongst the smaller kiddies, and there are a few cases of measles. Outside of this we are enjoying good health.

Local High School Loses to Lethbridge

Despite the inclement weather the local High School quint journeyed to Lethbridge Friday night for their scheduled game, and the locals were forced to take the short end of a 45-55 score. Up to the dying minutes of the game the teams were see-sawing all the way through, and near the end the locals surged one point ahead at 44-45. However the Lethbridge boys took a lead on Raymond and finished 10 points to the good. Play got plenty rough before the whistle.

HONESTY—USEFUL AS WELL AS SATISFYING

(By John Edwin Price)

As sincerity in the use of words is necessary to win the approval of those in a position to help us advance, so is honesty in all our relationships despite the attitude of a certain young man.

This young man, age 20, said right out loud that he didn't care about being honest. He wanted fine clothes, cars, a seashore and a mountain home and plenty of money with which to travel.

He said that his father had remained honest and had stuck in a country town all his life, stuck by dishonest people who bought of him and didn't pay their just debts and by misrepresenting salesmen who sold him inferior merchandise at unfair prices.

In running his country store on principles of honesty this father had attained a degree of contentment but had remained poor.

The son believed that by not being too honest or let us simply say that by being conveniently dishonest, — within the law — others attained riches and position and power; that their wives wore fur coats and the entire family could afford to go places and have the best of everything.

It may be said that this young man's attitude revealed itself when chief racketeers were still running rampant and much wasn't done about wickedness in high places.

Of course men have long wondered why some dishonest people appeared happy and rich for a time even, and others apparently for all their lives.

"While some dishonest people prosper it is still the RULE that honesty pays as a policy and is highly rewarding as a principle.

Not that honesty will win material riches regardless of ability or circumstances. But this is true—the honest capable person will on the average do better in gaining prosperity, friends and inner satisfaction & peace than the dishonest, though capable person. Years of observation in many individual cases are sometimes necessary to prove this a some of our biggest crooks have appeared to be happy and have friends of a sort and succeed for a time.

The father of the young man above mentioned would probably have done a little or quite a bit better by his family had he been hard, but honest with certain of his customers. However, we do not believe he would have even stayed in business had he earned the reputation of being hardly honest.

When a business man continues to let people take things out of his store without paying for them (when by doing without in some ways they could pay him) he is permitting his timidity to encourage petty thievery and is himself responsible for depriving his own family of comforts which his investment of past savings and daily hard work should entitle them.

The writer may have been somewhat guilty of the above himself. For during the past seven years he has operated a store in a small town while fur-

Notice of Annual Meeting of Electors Town of Raymond

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that a Meeting of the Electors of the Town of Raymond will be held at the Town Hall on Friday the 29th day of January, 1937, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of receiving the Auditor's Financial Statements of the Town for the year 1936, and to hear the report of the Chairman of the Various Committees and the Mayor.

ther developing his writing tendencies. In the process of buying and selling dry goods, medicines, boots, shoes, notions, candy, clothing, cosmetics, stationery, household gadgets, meats and groceries, one comes to know quite well people of many kinds and descriptions. During depression years when honest, capable people were struggling against fierce odds since it was easy to cry on the to gain an independent existence of generosity in the matter of credit. Getting in this frame of mind marred one's judgment so that actually dishonest people were sometimes trusted.

But through it all this writer-merchant has learned much about people, their problems — and about honesty. First, in buying he has found that the old business concerns are absolutely honest. He has seen several jobbers trying to get rich too quick by misrepresenting and selling or substituting inferior merchandise as quality stuff, go to the wall. The reliable houses, whose policies of fair dealing have enabled them to stay in business through the years, are always willing to adjust what even appears to be unsatisfactory and go so far as to send a downward adjusted invoice for merchandise which drops on the market soon after the merchant has bought it from them.

When on occasional speaking trips to distant cities he has quietly investigated several business failures, in most instances he has found that dishonest practices were chief failure causes.

He has learned that a reputation for honesty is often as good as money in the bank for merchant and customer.

And of course he has learned that with other unexpected losses of business, man absolutely cannot afford to have anything to do with dishonest helpers. A square deal for him and a square deal for his customers he must require. Clerks can't become owners in a few years now-a-days. Business demands for honesty—and cash registers—have forever done away with that.

The "Big Interests" In Life Insurance

Are the Policyholders and Beneficiaries

IN Life Insurance, the "Big Interests" are the millions of Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries — men, women and children who share in the protection made possible by individual thrift and foresight.

The concern of those who act on behalf of these policyholders and beneficiaries is to safeguard their interests. Their accumulated savings, amounting to more than two billion dollars, must be invested wisely to obtain the greatest yield consistent with safety. Every promise made in Life Insurance policies must be fulfilled completely and promptly.

Canadian policyholders may feel justly proud of the wise and careful administration of their trust funds. Even in the darkest days of the depression, their companies met every obligation promptly and fully—bringing financial security to thousands of Canadian homes.

There is added satisfaction in the fact that the investment of Life Insurance funds has helped to build Canadian homes, schools and hospitals—and develop agriculture, industries and public utilities. Thus, the whole Dominion benefits from Life Insurance.

In the future, as in the past, Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries must always be the "Big Interests" of Life Insurance.

Relief Must Be Severely Cut

MINISTER FINDS THAT CUTS ARE JUSTIFIED BY "RECOVERY"

Relief grants-in-aid to the provinces will be substantially reduced in 1937. Labor Minister, Norman Rogers told the Canadian Club at Toronto on Jan. 11, in what he called an "interim report" of the dominion government's progress in dealing with unemployment and relief last year.

"I believe these reductions will be fully justified by the extension of business recovery, by the marked improvement in municipal tax collections and by the improved financial position of most of the provinces," the minister said, though he admitted that some business forecasts were too optimistic.

All governments—dominion, provincial and municipal—must accept full responsibility to reduce relief costs during the present year.

NO CUT TILL SPRING

Mr. Rogers said the grants will be maintained at the present scale during January, February and March and substantial reductions will follow.

The minister reviewed the permanent closing last July of relief camps which at one time afforded shelter to 21,000 men and in the last year of their operation cost the government $9,000,000.00.

"During 1936 the government made an interim increase of 75 per cent in grants-in-aid to provinces for the winter months, but," Mr. Rogers said, "the government rejected a proposal for exclusive dominion responsibility on the long-established principle that provision of relief is primarily a municipal and provincial responsibility and only becomes a dominion responsibility to the extent that municipality and province are unable to cope with it."

As part of the public works program designed to give work to men, the government entered into agreements during 1936 with the various provinces for joint works amounting to a total joint expenditure of more than $20,000,000. At its peak, the joint-works program provided work for more than 40,000 men, the minister said.—Western Producer.

MORE ADVERTISING PLANNED FOR 1937

TORONTO, —Nearly 70 per cent of Canadian national advertisers will spend more money in 1937 compared with 1936 estimates Marketing, a public sales executives.

"From this it will be seen that 48.5 per cent of advertisers will spend more in newspapers and the return of definitely better times will be reflected in larger and more frequent insertions in all media," the paper remarks.

Marketing's investigation of probable advertising activity in 1937 reveals a much larger number of national advertisers than is usual at this time have approved their 1937 advertising budgets. Many advertisers who fell out of the ranks during the lean years will return, and a considerable number of new advertisers will be in evidence. Marketing says, "Among the many indices of improved business conditions, none will be more significant than the increased volume of national advertising being scheduled for the New Year."

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Clemis of Lethbridge were Raymond visitors Sunday last.

"Dat wife ob mine," said Rastus "is so lazy dat she done put popcorn in de pancakes so dey'll flop over by demselves."

The Swing Band put on a dance in the Opera House Saturday night. Because of the bad weather and cold only a small crowd was present.

Elders John Allen and Byron Vance were the speakers at the Second Ward Sacrament meeting Sunday evening. Very interesting talks were given by both missionaries, and the small crowd thoroughly enjoyed the meeting.

Young Actor—"I've got a job at last, Dad. It's a new play and I'm a man who has been married for twenty years."

Father—"Splendid! That's a start anyway, my boy. And may be one of these days they will give you a speaking part."

A great deal of work has been done in the Second Ward Chapel the past two weeks in removing some of the floors which had rotted out and laying hardwood floors in a number of the rooms. Rods and coat hangers are being installed in the cloak room which will make things much more convenient for church and other gatherings.

TIME TO CONSIDER SEED REQUIREMENTS

At the commencement of the new year farmers should estimate their seed requirements and investigate sources of supply. Those with sufficient supply of home produced seed should clean and grade it carefully, so as to sow the fewest possible of weed seeds and small seed which produce only weak plants. Records since the dawn of civilization prove the truth of the adage: "We reap what we sow." Good crops cannot be grown without good seed.

There is an abundance of timothy and alsike seed this year in Canada but the supply of domestic red clover, alfalfa and sweet clover is low and should be obtained as early as possible.

Seed grain is in good supply for 1937 seeding except in the drought areas of Western Canada and in Eastern Quebec, where seed will need to be shipped in before spring.
